Staff at Hitchin Museum are having a break from cleaning the hundreds of bottles from the Victorian Pharmacy and have moved on to some more unusual and larger objects. Here, Gill dusts and hoovers a model of a church pulpit, made locally from wood and leather.

Share this:

Email

A break from pharmaceutical bottles

Print
Facebook
Twitter
Pocket
WhatsApp
Pinterest

Reddit