

North Herts Museum update: final Behind the Scenes tours

Visitors took the opportunity to join the last Behind the Scenes tour at Letchworth Museum on Tuesday 2nd December. This was the last time we will run the tour so that staff can concentrate on all the tasks necessary to move into our new building next year. Those on the tour heard about the history of the museum building, the first part of which was built 100 years ago this year.

Staff working on processing and packing the objects showed them what they have been doing.

Our visitors saw how many boxes we've packed so far, stored around the museum building.
